

Content

Preface	1
Introduction	5
Part I:
Varieties of Mutation during the High Middle Ages	11
Expansion	11
Spatial Expansion	11
Temporal Expansion	22
Antiquity	22
Future	34
Religious Expansion	37
Religious Aggressivity	39
Differentiation	47
The Holy and the Profane	47
Social Transformations	50
Lay-Folk Becoming Visible	53
Women Becoming Visible	54
Children Becoming Visible	61
Diversity in Religious Life	63
Romanesque and Gothic Architecture	66
Music	68
Further Examples of Diversification	69
Rationalization	71
Theology and Philosophy	71
Law and Politics	79

Intellectual Management	85
Ingenium	88
Abstraction	101
Realistic Observation	103
Desacralization	113
Death	121
Nature, Fortune and Fate	123
Psychologicalization	130
Discovering the Self	130
Doubt and Inner Conflict	135
Ethics	151
Love Emotions	158
Men and Women	160
Mysticism	172
Compassion	177
Friendship	183
Summary	185
Contemporaries Reacting	187
Part II:
Rethinking the Problems of Approach and Interpretation	197
Some Methodical Considerations on the Quest for Historical Reasons	197
Causal Explanations	204
The Investiture Struggle	208
General Theories of Cultural Development and their Adaptation to the High Middle Ages	217
The 'Materialistic' Point of View	218
The Sociological Point of View	225
The Psychohistorical Point of View	229
External Cultural Influences	251
Conclusion	265

Excursus:
 The Court as a Centre for the Transfer of Mental Attitudes ... 269

Postscript 279
 A Very Short Note on the History of Scholarship 279
 And a Final Note, viz. on This Book's Language 285

Abbreviations 287

Bibliography 289

Index to ancient and medieval names and to anonymous texts 321

Index to authors of secondary works 329